(Village life in Japan is a drab affair. Yet land and other reforms undertaken by the U. S. occupational authorities are bringing about a steady improvement. The situation at the typical farming town of Minami Takanezawa is described in the following article from Howard Handelman of International News Service, the fourth in a series of five.)

By Howard Handelman

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MINAMI TAKANEZAWA, Japan, May 14.—(INS)—Half the people of Japan live the same life as the 6,700 people of Minami Takanezawa live today.

The people in this village are only 85 miles from Tokyo.

But they might as well be 850 miles away.

It takes them an hour by bus to get to Utsunomiya, only 10 miles distant, where they can get the train for the two and a half hour ride to Tokyo.

Not many bother.

But the people in this village, like the rest of the 35,000,000 people on Japanese farms, are working to make their lives a little better.

In August of 1946 this correspondent spent three days in Minami Takanezawa. The second visit in 1948 showed important improvements in the little things in the village life.

There are 44 new houses, now, and more are being built. Alongside the grammar school the villagers are building a new junior high school which all the children will be able to attend.

Under the old system the Utsunomiya middle school was too far away and too costly for most children in the village.

American instituted reform has prodded the village to build the new school. The villagers, who two years ago complained that they were backward because of little education, like this reform despite its cost.

There are three clothing shops in the village now. Two years ago there were none. The shops, run by villagers who had clothing stores before the war, do not have much to offer, but at least they are in the village again.

Village secretary Masao Aoyama said the shops have rationed clothing only, and that most of it is for children.

"For the last few months," he said, "the stores have only had clothing for children under seven. Adults must go to Utsunomiya to buy second hand or black market clothing."

It takes time and money to go to Utsunomiya. A private bus line makes two round trips daily for 20 yen (40 cents at official rate) one way. The government railroad bus line makes four daily round trips for 13 yen (26 cents) each way.

Utsunomiya is a "Saturday night" town crowded with movies and even one theatre showing nude girls. The Japanese call these "Venus" shows.

The village has had a boost of 400 in its population since August of 1946. Among these were:

Discusses World Gov't
Before the Rotarians

An informative discussion on "World Government" highlighted the meeting of Bristol Rotarians at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon when W. Edwin Collier, president of the Philadelphia Ethical Society, and a member of the board of directors of the United Nations Council of Philadelphia, told the group that the only alternative to continued world anarchy is world government.

"The League of Nations was unsuccessful because it was founded on national sovereignties, and the same fallacies have been incorporated into the present United Nations organization," Collier pointed out.

"The United Nations organization is nothing more than a grand alliance, and with the veto power it is important to arrive at any real decisions in vital matters."

"In contrast to this unworkable instrument, as it now stands, the United World Federalists have a plan which, although it is inadequate in some respects, is still a step in the right direction."

"The World Federalists believe that there can be no permanent peace without justice, no justice without law, no law without institutions to make, interpret and enforce it; that only a world government, federal in form, resting on limited powers delegated by the sovereign people, can successfully combine necessary control of world affairs with self-government in national affairs."

"The World Federalists propose that the American people should urge their government to promote the formation of a federal world government, either by proposing drastic amendments to the present United Nations Charter, or by calling a new world constitutional convention, or by any fair and realistic method that gives promise of bringing all people together in one world, under the protection of a federal world government."

NOT A THREAT

Disclosure that Army engineers are well along toward completing the $13,000,000 Misawa Air Base in Japan may bring charges that this huge project is evidence of aggressive designs toward the Soviets on the part of the United States. They may be made by the Russians or their sympathizers in this country, despite facts leading to a different conclusion.

There is another explanation.
It is that the Misawa base, like others built by the Japanese, was unsuited for use by American planes. Japanese fields were not big enough for B-29s and the air strips were thin layers of concrete on weak foundations. If American planes were to operate in Japan these bases had to be made over. And, of course, as long as American troops occupy that country it will be necessary to station aircraft there.

Misawa Air Base is strategically located on the northeast tip of the island of Honshu. From there American bombers could, in case of war with Russia, strike at the important cities of Siberia. But the Russians undoubtedly have similar bases there and may have them in northern Korea as well.

The best indicator of American intentions is this country's occupation policy in Japan. The United States continues to keep that country disarmed and unable even to defend itself. If there should be a change, if Japan should begin getting arms in quantities, it will be time for the Reds to worry.

CRITICAL KOREANS

As a rule the Russians are not very good at persuading people to do what they want them to do.
That is why they resort to intimidation, coercion and plain brute force to gain their ends. But they usually try milder methods first.
And sometimes they have some success.

They are having some success now in Korea. Some time ago they called a "unity conference" at Pyongyang, in their zone, and two Korean leaders from the American-occupied part of the country decided to attend. Returning to Seoul, the pair issued statements showing that they had been sold a bill of goods.

There is some confusion over their attitude. One account said that their statements were contradictory. But both praised the manner in which the Russians have been running things in their zone
and were highly critical of American occupation authorities.

As for their charges, they may or may not be true. It may be that the Russians stay in the background and the Americans "meddle" too much. It may be that industrial progress is more marked in the Russian zone. It may even be that some corruption exists in the American zone—although this accusation was too broad to be accorded credence.

American authorities are setting up a representative government in the U. S. zone. But it is evident that the Reds will place every obstacle possible in its path.

NOT A THREAT

Disclosure that Army engineers are well along toward completing the $13,000,000 Misawa Air Base in Japan may bring charges that this huge project is evidence of aggressive designs toward the Soviets on the part of the United States. They may be made by the Russians or their sympathizers in this country, despite facts leading to a different conclusion.

There is another explanation. It is that the Misawa base, like others built by the Japanese, was unsuited for use by American planes. Japanese fields were not big enough for B-29s and the air strips were thin layers of concrete on weak foundations. If American planes were to operate in Japan these bases had to be made over. And, of course, as long as American troops occupy that country it will be necessary to station aircraft there.

Misawa Air Base is strategically located on the northeast tip of the island of Honshu. From there American bombers could, in case of war with Russia, strike at the important cities of Siberia. But the Russians undoubtedly have similar bases there and may have them in northern Korea as well.

The best indicator of American intentions is this country's occupation policy in Japan. The United States continues to keep that country disarmed and unable even to defend itself. If there should be a change, if Japan should begin getting arms in quantities, it will be time for the Reds to worry.

CRITICAL KOREANS

As a rule the Russians are not very good at persuading people to do what they want them to do. That is why they resort to intimidation, coercion and plain brute force to gain their ends. But they usually try milder methods first. And sometimes they have some success.

They are having some success now in Korea. Some time ago they called a "unity conference" at Pyongyang, in their zone, and two Korean leaders from the American-occupied part of the country decided to attend. Returning to Seoul, the pair issued statements showing that they had been sold a bill of goods.

There is some confusion over their attitude. One account said that their statements were contradictory. But both praised the manner in which the Russians have been running things in their zone and were highly critical of American occupation authorities.

As for their charges, they may or may not be true. It may be that the Russians stay in the background and the Americans "meddle" too much. It may be that industrial progress is more marked in the Russian zone. It may even be that some corruption exists in the American zone—although this accusation was too broad to be accorded credence.

American authorities are setting up a representative government in the U. S. zone. But it is evident that the Reds will place every obstacle possible in its path.

Mothers, Daughters Hear Talk and Enjoy a Banquet

NEWPORTVILLE, May 14 — A mother and daughter banquet was held in the basement of Newportville Community Church—Presbyterian, on Wednesday evening, 75 being present. The room was decorated with pink and white festoons, and a picture of "Whitstler's Mother" decorated in crepe paper formed the background at the speaker's table.

After a bountiful menu, Mrs. Edna Enoch introduced the speaker, Mrs. George Miller, Frankford, who spoke about "What have you in your hand, mother?" comparing the child in the hands of a mother with Moses. God when God worked through Moses, saying "with God's help, the child can be trained by the Mother in the Christian way." She reminded that "mothers should so live that children will see Christ in them, and be led to Him through mothers."

Mrs. John Lowrie gave several readings on "Mother," and vocal selections were rendered by the Misses Patricia Given, and Naomi Lowrie, little Susan Perpete, and Mrs. Lowrie, Miss Joan Dixon accompanying them at the piano. Miss Jane Wallace favored with a piano solo; group singing was enjoyed. Mrs. Raymond Given presented gifts to Mrs. Miller as a token of appreciation; a gift to the oldest mother, Mrs. J. Nesbitt; the newest mother, Mrs. Harry Emy; the youngest mother, Mrs. William Leighton; youngest daughter, Margorie Perpete; and to the mother with the most daughters, Mrs. Clifford Ingraham.

Mothers, Daughters Hear Talk and Enjoy a Banquet

NEWPORTVILLE, May 14 — A mother and daughter banquet was held in the basement of Newportville Community Church—Presbyterian, on Wednesday evening, 75 being present. The room was decorated with pink and white festoons, and a picture of "Whittier's Mother" decorated in crepe paper formed the background at the speaker's table.

After a bountiful menu, Mrs. Edna Enoch introduced the speaker, Mrs. George Miller, Frankford, who spoke about "What have you in your hand, mother?" comparing the child in the hands of a mother with Moses' Rod when God worked through Moses, saying "with God's help, the child can be trained by the Mother in the Christian way." She reminded that "mothers should so live that children will see Christ in them, and be led to Him through mothers."

Mrs. John Lowrie gave several readings on "Mother," and vocal selections were rendered by the Misses Patricia Given, and Naomi Lowrie, Little Susan Perpete, and Mrs. Lowrie, Miss Joan Dixon accompanying them at the piano. Miss Jane Wallace favored with a piano solo; group singing was enjoyed. Mrs. Raymond Given presented gifts to Mrs. Miller as a token of appreciation; a gift to the oldest mother, Mrs. J. Nesbitt; the newest mother, Mrs. Harry Erny; the youngest mother, Mrs. William Leighton; youngest daughter, Marjorie Perpete; and to the mother with the most daughters, Mrs. Clifford Ingraham.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

First shoot... this Sunday, May 15, the first round of the 1948 Low-lands Bucks County Trapshooting League matches will be held over the traps of the Woodmont Gun Club.

Seven clubs are expected to participate in the matches. They include: Bristol, New Hope, Edgely, Newportville Rod & Gun, Tri-County, Tru-Sport and Woodmont.

In last year's league four clubs took part, with Edgely winning and Bristol taking runner-up position.

Since many shooters may not know how to get to the Woodmont club grounds, here are the directions: Proceed north on Street Road to the main intersection in Southampton. Turn left on Second Street Pike and proceed west for approximately one mile to Byberry Road. Turn right on Byberry Road, travel over the first railroad grade crossing (Woodmont Station), continuing on to Mason Mill Road. Turn left on Mason Mill Road and proceed for a short distance, and the traps will be seen on the right side of the road.

The shoot is open to all members of the seven clubs. A minimum of the five high scores will be counted for each club, with a maximum of the ten high scores of members of any one club to be counted. In other words, suppose each club had 15 men shooting. The ten high scores from each group would be counted for the team totals.

Here are the rules for the League:

1. One match to be held on each club grounds, except in case of tie.
2. All matches will consist of 50 targets.
3. One man from each club will be appointed to a committee of referees.
4. Minimum of 5 men from each club.
5. Maximum of 10 men to count in final scores.
6. A contestant must shoot in at least 5 out of 7 matches to be eligible for prizes.
7. Referee's decision shall be final.
8. Minimum charge, targets and shells, $5.00; minimum charge, targets only, $1.50.
9. High over all individual to receive a prize of $10.00 to be taken from entrance money before divided.
10. Contestant must be a member of club he represents at least 30 days prior to opening date. Any shooter is subject to challenge for eligibility if found ineligible he will be disqualified.
11. Ties to be shot off on grounds of team having next highest score.
12. Entrance fee to be $20.00 per club, money to be divided high gun, 50-30-20.
13. Shoots will be held once monthly.
14. Anything not covered by the foregoing will be governed by A. T. A. rules.

The schedule is as follows: Woodmont, May 16; Newportville, June 20; New Hope, July; Tri-County, August; Edgely, September 19; Tru-Sport, October 17; and Bristol, November 7.

Scores... three shooters tied for first place with scores of 23 each in the open blue rock shoot held over the Newportville Rod & Gun Club traps last Sunday afternoon. They were C. Bluff, E. Ely and E. Bekes. Twenty-five marksmen participated in the matches. Other scores included: Wm. Doran, 22; G. Applegate, 21; J. S. Lynn, 20; P. Harrison, 19; and P. Hanson, 18. The only woman shooter in the matches, Mrs. Walter Parker, broke 13 of her targets.

Ladies, note... from the May, 1942 issue of the Pennsylvania Angler, the official publication of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, comes this interesting observation, titled "Odors Out." It reads: "Many housewives dislike to prepare fish for the table because so doing leaves a characteristic fishy odor on the hands. Such odors may be removed by rubbing the hands, especially the nails, with table salt and then rinsing them thoroughly."
